

CASE STUDY

Printworks House, Bermondsey Street

Brief

Situated in a prime location adjacent to the newly redeveloped London Bridge Station, our works at Printworks House involved the refurbishment of the ground and lower ground floors.

Project info

Bold colours and new balustrades for these bright, open plan offices.

The exposed concrete ceilings and exposed services were enhanced by the use of bold accent colours to provide contemporary office accommodation. Our works included the formation of a new WC block, new raised access flooring, and new mechanical and electrical installations that included lighting and small power. We also undertook repairs to existing walls, minor structural alterations, added a new fire alarm system to suit the new layout and, of course, decorations throughout.
